

INEQUALITY CONFERENCE (virtual)

November 5-6, 2021

CALL FOR PAPERS

The International Centre for Economic Analysis (ICEA) invites papers to be considered for a virtual conference on Inequality, in the After the Pandemic conference series.

The pandemic has had pronounced consequences for income and wealth inequality. The increase in income and wealth inequality during the pandemic has been widely reported. Some explanations involve the effect of lockdowns on the employment of low-paid workers, and the effect of low interest rates and high savings on property and stock market boom. The conference will focus on why inequality has increased within nations and among nations, and whether, and which, of these changes may become long term or permanent.

The conference is planned as interdisciplinary. We invite papers related to the general theme of the conference, in all fields, including economics, psychology, sociology, political science and management.

The conference is open to both presenters and non-presenters, and there are no fees, but registration is required.

It is an international centre with chapters in Canada, at Wilfrid Laurier University in Waterloo, Ontario; in Poland, at the University of Warsaw and in Italy, at the University of Siena. The centre was called the Research Centre for Economic Analysis until September 2021.

We are committed to the unrestricted exchange of research results and ideas, and our work is freely available online. Through outreach activities, we disseminate the results of our members' research to the decision makers and the general public.
